

Applications will be reviewed on a competitive basis each spring for consideration for cohorts that will begin each fall semester. Preference will be given to graduating high school seniors; two-year community college transfers; and first-year college freshmen.

Eligible candidates will be selected based upon their potential for teaching and their motivation for participation in the program.

Call Me MiSTER® Student Vision Statement:

"I am a dedicated Servant Leader who is perpetuating a sorely needed concept - Servant-Leaders as role models in elementary schools. I am devoted to planting seeds of dignity and respect in children and inspiring them to cultivate those seeds producing a crop of unprecedented success. I will teach reading, writing and arithmetic and progress to self-esteem, imagination and determination. Because of my immeasurable promise, not only have I earned your respect, I demand it! A title is only important if ones' character and integrity dictate its use. When you address me, please verbalize my destiny... please do not call me by my first name... call me in reference to my great vision... call me MISTER!"

Call Me MiSTER® (Mentors Instructing Students Toward Effective Role Models)

was founded at Clemson University in 2000 to address the critical shortage of minority male teachers in America's classrooms. Call Me MiSTER has expanded to include females and other prospective PreK-Grade 12 teacher candidates. The mission of the program is to increase the pool of available teachers from a broader more diverse background, particularly among the lowest performing elementary schools. Northwestern State University has a rich legacy of teacher preparation and is proud to partner with Clemson University to fulfill this goal.
