

Oral Historian

Vicki Knight currently resides in Franklinton, Louisiana, where she works as a school librarian and teacher. She received a Master of Education degree with an emphasis in reading and a school librarian certification from the University of Louisiana - Lafayette in Hammond. A fun and rewarding pastime for Vicki is hearing and telling oral histories. She employs both audio and video recording devices for interviews with elderly Washington Parish residents. Vicki has interviewed Zuma Magee and Daunton Gibbs. Updated February 20, 2017 by Natchitoches-NSU Louisiana Folklife Center Staff
